TRUCK DROPS TO CREEK BED AS A BRIDGE COLLAPSESVehicle Loaded With Six Yards of Concrete Mix; Driver is Hurt*DROPS FORTY FEET*30 Feet of Historic Covered Bridge is Torn Away

A truck loaded with six yards of concrete mix dropped 40 feet into the Neshaminy creek as the driver was operating the vehicle through the historic covered bridge on Swamp road, three miles west of Newtown, yesterday afternoon.

The driver of the vehicle, which is owned by Warner Company, Morrisville, was Henry T. Gurlavich, of Charles Way, Trenton, N. J. Gurlavich was removed to Doylestown Emergency Hospital where he was treated for shock and bruises.

In crashing through the floor of the ancient bridge, which is limited to two tons weight, the truck took 30 feet of the bridge with it to the creek bed. The truck remained on its side in the creek this morning.

The bridge which collapsed is located in Wrightstown township, Gurlavich was travelling west over the enclosed structure at the time, he being enroute to Richboro with the concrete.

In an accident occurring at the intersection of Bellevue avenue and the Lincoln highway, Pennel, yesterday shortly before noon, Mrs. Charlotte Hunter, Hulmeville, was injured. She was treated by her own physician for shock and bruises.

According to police officials, Mrs. Hunter was driving a sedan south on Bellevue avenue, and had the "go" signal. It is stated that a car operated by Richard N. Kailor, Wynnewood, Montgomery County, was travelling east on the Lincoln highway when he struck the Hunter car. The front fender, front tire, door panels and window glass on the right side of the Hunter machine were considerably damaged. The investigation is not yet completed.

Friends Present Purse To Birthday Celebrant

Mrs. Lena Vorhis, Lafayette street, was pleasantly surprised Saturday evening when a number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. White, Lafayette street, to celebrate her birthday anniversary. Pinochle was enjoyed and prizes awarded.

Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, Newport Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gerhart, Pennsbury; Mrs. Howard Johnson and children Thelma and Walter, Middletown township; Mr. and Mrs. Lamont White and family, Edgely; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Everett, Croydon; Mrs. Joseph Whatty, Mrs. Allan Barr, Mrs. Leon Prickett, Mrs. Irene Sharp, Samuel Moore and William Wright, Bristol.

Mrs. Vorhis was presented with a purse of money.

LOCATE STOLEN CAR

MORRISVILLE, Dec. 1.—A car stolen in Trenton, N. J., has been recovered by Morrisville police. The machine was found near a diner here. The owner is William J. Tobin, Hamilton township, N. J. The car was stolen from near State and Broad streets in the New Jersey capital on Sunday.

Work 1,250,000 Man-Hrs. Without Lost-Time Injury

One million, two hundred and fifty thousand man-hours or 152 working days without an accidental injury involving loss of time on the job have just been completed by the Bristol Plant of Rohm & Haas Company, chemical manufacturers.

According to H. W. Thompson, the plant's safety director, this record is equivalent to 100 men working 40 hours per week for six years without a lost-time injury. "This record has been accomplished through the combined effort of all the employees," said Thompson, "and with their continued fine cooperation there is no reason why the record cannot be extended indefinitely."

Safety records are no novelty to employees of this plant. In 1944 they received the annual grand award of the Philadelphia Safety Council for effecting marked reduction in accident frequency. Last year this frequency was still further reduced.

TO SPEAK AT RITES

Representing the Society of Friends, Dudley E. Bell will speak at the funeral service for Miss Mary J. Haines, at the Keene home, 719 Radcliffe street, tomorrow at 11 a.m.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. George E. Boswell, rector of St. James' Episcopal Church.

Rotarians and Lions Have 1st Joint Session

At the first joint session of Andalusia Lions Club and Bensalem Rotary Club, covers were arranged for 60 as the men gathered for a turkey dinner last evening. The affair took place at Becker Farms Inn, Bensalem township, with the Rotarians as hosts.

Presiding at the session was Philip G. Mack, president of the Rotary club. He in turn introduced William R. Stern, president of the Andalusia Lions. A feature of the business session was the introduction by members, in turn, of each man to the right.

A guest introduced was Edward Taws, who displayed a perspective of the proposed Camp Andalusia, six acres of ground for which Mr. Taws has donated for Scouting units of that area. The perspective showed the proposed athletic field, central meeting building, structures for week-end campers, etc. The plot extends from State road to the Penna. railroad.

Natural color slides of scenes in the Hawaiian Islands were then shown by Miss Elma E. Haefner, Hulmeville, she being introduced by J. Maurice Tomlinson.

11 TABLES OF PLAYERS

There were 11 tables of pinochle players at the card party sponsored by the Mothers' Association at Bristol high school last evening. The high scorers were the following: Cora Marsh, 794; Walter R. Johnson, 789; A. White, 779; Mrs. T. Kenyon, 753; Margaret Harbison, 751. Mrs. William White was in charge.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The division of Berlin into Soviet and Western sections was virtually completed yesterday when the Communists installed their own city "government," with Friedrich Ebert as mayor, in the Soviet sector. Herr Ebert pledged "closest contact with the Soviet Union." General Clay called the proceedings "illegal." In Paris, Chairman Bramuglia of the United Nations Security Council said Russia had accepted in principle his proposal for a "neutral" commission to study the Berlin situation, but had asked some modifications. The United States, Britain and France agreed to the plan.

A tripartite military pact to prevent Germany's military resurgence neared completion by the military governors of the Western occupying powers. The occupation statute may be promulgated on December 16th.

The United Nations would not survive "one day" without the veto, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky said in opposing in the General Assembly's Political Committee a four-power resolution for drastic voluntary curbs.

Britain revised her Palestine proposal to conform to the American amendment basing boundaries on a hospital for a physical check-up.

"LIFE" AND THE T-H LAW

Another supposed injustice is cited by "Life" to prove that the law should be changed:

"Under the Wagner Act, when you went on strike you continued to have a Labor Relations Board election vote in your union even after you had been replaced on your job by a strikebreaker. But now when a man is "permanently" replaced, he loses his vote. In a loose labor market the loss of the vote might be disastrous. An entire union local might be "permanently" replaced by nonunion men—and the local would thus lose any right to vote on its own fate."

All this contains so much misinformation and misunderstanding that it is little more than gibberish. For example, either intentionally or through ignorance, the word "strikebreaker" is used as being synonymous with a legitimate, permanent replacement of a striking employee who forfeited his right to return to his job. This is simply resorting to name-calling in place of sense. The word "strikebreaker" means a temporary employee put on to try to "break" a strike; usually the term is "scab". (If you question this, look it up in the dictionary.)

But "Life" is grossly ignorant of the facts if it thinks that under the Wagner Act a striking employee always, and under all circumstances, retained his right to vote in the NLRB elections. "Life" is equally mixed-up when it implies that the concept of "permanently-replaced" strikers being barred from shop elections is something invented by the Taft-Hartley Act to bedevil and enslave labor.

Where have "Life's" editors been for the last ten years, not to know that this point has been quarreled over, and disputed, and litigated about, in endless NLRB hearings and Federal Court cases—long before the Taft-Hartley Act was passed?

Under the Wagner Act, a striker could be just as definitely barred out from voting in NLRB elections as he can under the present law. He could be just as "permanently" replaced.

The issue fought out in spectacular Supreme Court cases (which Life apparently never heard of) was this: under what circumstances did the Wagner Act rule striking employees to be disbarred from re-instatement in their jobs?

In the palmy days of the New Deal, the NLRB made some rulings which no one in his right mind would seriously attempt to justify. Gross violation of contract, mass violence, violation of other laws, even outright mutiny—these unlawful acts were not sufficient, in the minds of the Board itself, to disqualify strikers. But such cases were appealed to the Supreme Court, which ruled in effect that workers on strike were still required to obey the law; and that lawless conduct or objectives of strikes, UNDER THE WAGNER ACT, disqualified them from reinstatement in criminal court.

The prosecutor, Oliver W. Johnson, 46, Riegelsville R. D., whose Aberdeen-Angus bull escaped from his pasture August 21 and ran over to M. E. Stoudt's Guernsey herd, was also directed to pay his share of the costs of prosecution.

Witnesses for the Commonwealth included Mr. Johnson, the prosecutor, who testified the two defendants "escorted" him off the Stoudt farm; his two farmhands, Norman Ketterer and Raymond Snyder, and two friends, Stanley Wheeler, 48, and his wife, Jean. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler were riding in a truck and watched the neighbors' fracas from the highway.

The defendants were two brothers, one of whom, Vernon, admitted taking Johnson by the arm, and the other, Donald, who denied that he touched Johnson.

Maynard Buss, 23, who is employed on the Stoudt farm, testified he had a hold of the other arm of Johnson and not Donald.

Other witnesses for the defendant were another brother, Robert, 21; Elmer Mowrey, and Richard Cressman, Veterans Administration agricultural instructor, and the defendants' employer, M. E. Stoudt, Allentown contractor and Guernsey breeder.

Rites Held Today For William M. Armstrong

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 1—Rites were held in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, here, this morning, for William M. Armstrong, 71, who died in the Emergency Hospital. Burial was private.

Mr. Armstrong had had several blood transfusions, and had been hospitalized for a week.

A native here, he was the son of the late Enoch and Mary M. Armstrong.

Doylestown police said today that complaints had been received and police cautioned to be on the lookout for the Reinhold car which was being operated along the Easton Highway in a zig-zagged manner.

Reinhold was stopped in the central business section here and taken into custody. He was examined at the office of Dr. Herbert T. Cough for alleged drunkenness, and then committed to the Bucks County Prison by Justice of the Peace William Wrigley, at Edison, for a further hearing.

Local police said that Reinhold was not involved in an accident while driving Monday night.

Reinhold pleaded guilty before Judge Hiriam H. Keller on November 22, this year, to a charge of driving while drunk on the Point Pleasant Pike on July 25 when he was involved in a collision with a car driven by Frank Kozloski. At that time Reinhold was arrested by Trooper Edward C. Gunster, of the State Police. Judge Keller imposed a fine of $200 and costs on Reinhold when he pleaded guilty a week ago.

ACQUIT BROTHERS OF ASSAULT AND BATTERYBoth Are Directed, However, To Pay Share of Costs*BEFORE JUDGE BOYER

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 1—Two brothers, Vernon Langer, 29, World War II GI, and Donald Langer, 24, a former Marine, Riegelsville R. D., L., who are employed by M. E. Stoudt, Springfield township Guernsey breeder, were acquitted of assault and battery, but directed to pay their share of the costs of prosecution by Judge Calvin S. Boyer in criminal court, here.

The prosecutor, Oliver W. Johnson, 46, Riegelsville R. D., whose Aberdeen-Angus bull escaped from his pasture August 21 and ran over to M. E. Stoudt's Guernsey herd, was also directed to pay his share of the costs of prosecution.

Witnesses for the Commonwealth included Mr. Johnson, the prosecutor, who testified the two defendants "escorted" him off the Stoudt farm; his two farmhands, Norman Ketterer and Raymond Snyder, and two friends, Stanley Wheeler, 48, and his wife, Jean. CHRISTENING DINNER

The baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Corkran, Jr., Railroad avenue, was christened Lillian Nancy, Sunday, in Bensalem Methodist Church, by the Rev. Burns Brodhead. The sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McEvane, Croydon. A dinner followed at the home of the baby's parents. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lewis, James and Joseph McEvane, Croydon; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Creely, the Misses Dorothy and Violet Creely, William Corkran, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Furman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Linton Woolvin and daughters Janet and Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Corkran, Sr., and Florence Corkran, Bristol. Music was enjoyed.

The intersection of the relocated portion with the old portion of Durham road, near the Prickett stables, is to be completed before winter sets in however, it is said. This will assure improved conditions for motorists forced to drive over the intersection during stormy weather when considerable mud makes travel difficult.

The Groves firm states that the job was to be completed in 120 working days, and "we have used up just about one-half of the time allotted".

REVOLTS TO ORDER

Reports keep trickling in of a strange new military organization functioning on the fringes of the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico. Made up mainly of exiles from various Latin American countries, it has the avowed purpose of overthrowing "dictatorships." It is alleged to have helped the recent revolution in Costa Rica, which seems to have resulted in no net gain for democracy.

There are elements of the fantastic and the contradictory in this little band of soldiers of fortune dedicated to revolutionary idealism. Its members, totaling between 200 and 500, are now doing squads right on the hospitable plains of Guatemala, preparing for the next day of wrath. They are officers without an army. Wherever there are leaderless masses wanting to revolt, they have only to call on the Caribbean Legion.

The whole project sounds impractical to the point of absurdity, but people said that of the Communist International for years.

There is little probability, at any rate, that the Caribbean Legion will ever help a genuine revolt against tyranny to succeed. To overthrow any governments, it will need great supplies of munitions. Hence it will need solid financial backing, of the sort most likely to be offered by ambitious and corrupt men and governments. It could easily be hired by one Latin American government seeking to destroy another from within.

There is disquieting evidence that several Latin American governments have toyed with the idea. Apparently all have decided that the time is not ripe. But one of them may want to use the Caribbean Legion soon against Honduras, Nicaragua, the Dominican Republic, or some other target.

The possibility may be more of a menace than it now appears to be. If so, the prospects of instability in the Americas will play into the hands of the Moscow Reds, who know how to make the most of any disorder.

New car buyers in Washington paid $500 "under the counter" to get delivery, it is testified. This is a method of doing business that was invented in, but is no longer confined to, Washington.

Washington has its eye on high corporation earnings and there is some prospect that steps will be taken about the law and the profits.

Communists lost 80 per cent of their seats in the French legislature. France must be full of low-down, imperialistic capitalists.

If Washington goes in for all-out support for China, the taxpayer is going to be all out at the seat of the pants.

Medical authority says the common cold should be treated with respect. Is there any other kind?

"Life" and The T-H Law

The point is this: these basic principles which Life objects to, on the theory they were introduced by the Taft-Hartley Law, were also in the Wagner Act. Through faulty phraseology, and through high-handed decisions of the NLRB which disregarded the intent of the Wagner Act, the matter was jumbled to the point where clarification was imperative.

Broadly speaking, what the Taft-Hartley Act did in this respect was to write into the labor code THE VERY SAME PRINCIPLES WHICH THE SUPREME COURT HAD ALREADY DECIDED WERE THERE UNDER THE WAGNER ACT.

(For verification, the law itself is reasonably clear, especially when its provisions are compared with the working of the Wagner Act and the interpretations of the Supreme Court. For a brief discussion of these points, with citations on the various cases, turn to pages 58-59 of the N.A.M. Law Digest mentioned above.)

Swaying "Life's" judgment in this whole matter is its willingness to accept at face value the verbal statements of labor leaders, promising a moderation in labor methods which the record shows they have not used under the stress of past labor unrest.

The editors quote, for example, Charles J. MacGowan, president of the Boilermakers, as saying that the labor movement "cannot and dare not, unless it is seeking self-destruction, undertake to paralyze great portions of the entire nation." Philip Murray is quoted as saying: "We do not strike against the general welfare."

If it were a fact that labor leaders themselves were prepared to enforce such restraint in their strikes, the Taft-Hartley Act's provisions against reckless general strikes would be unnecessary. But strikes aimed at paralyzing great portions of the nation, and strikes against the general welfare, have been called over and again in recent years. In fact, the calling of such strikes during 1945 and 1946 was the moving cause which led Congress to enact the Taft-Hartley Act.

Reverse the proposition: if labor leaders do not desire to call "strikes against the general welfare"—then what objection can they legitimately have to a labor law which impedes and delays that type of strike?

"Life," through its failure to study the Taft-Hartley law and its background before delivering its condemnation to millions of Americans, has done the cause of orderly, sound and due-process regulation of labor affairs a great disservice.

Boyle-Castor Wedding Is A Saturday Event

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Castor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Castor, 321 Penn street and Mr. Aaron Boyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alois Boyle, Summitt Hill, occurred at two o'clock Saturday in St. Ann's R. C. Church. The Rev. Bernard Harding officiated.

Mr. Michael Castor gave his sister in marriage. Her attendants were Miss Antoinette Peterpaul, maid of honor; and a sister of the bride, Miss Carmella Castor, as bridesmaid. The best man was Mr. William Boyle, Summitt Hill, brother of the bridegroom.

The whole project sounds impractical to the point of absurdity, but people said that of the Communist International for years.

There is little probability, at any rate, that the Caribbean Legion will ever help a genuine revolt against tyranny to succeed. To overthrow any governments, it will need great supplies of munitions. Hence it will need solid financial backing, of the sort most likely to be offered by ambitious and corrupt men and governments. ISSUE FIRST CALL FOR BASKETBALL PLAYERS AT B. H. S.

The athletes of the Bristol High School have now turned to basketball and this week Coach Jerry Bloom issued his first call for candidates. Coach Bloom and his cohorts face a 19-game schedule which is one of the toughest in years.

Faculty Manager Charles Utz has added several new schools to the Warriors' schedule including Upper Merion, Upper Darby, and Bordentown. Back on the locals' schedule are: Temple High, Brown Prep, Palmyra, Trenton Catholic and the schools of the Lower Bucks County League.

Southampton, George School, Buckingham, Burlington, Abington, and Camden Catholic are not on the schedule this year. Burlington was forced to drop the Warriors from the schedule because of a ruling of New Jersey schools that basketball teams could only play so many games.

The schedule:

| Date | Opponents | Place |
|---------|------------------|-------|
| Dec. 10 | Bordentown | home |
| Dec. 14 | Pennsbury | home |
| Dec. 18 | Upper Merion | home |
| Dec. 21 | Upper Merion | home |
| Jan. 4 | Trenton Catholic | home |
| Jan. 8 | Bensalem | away |
| Jan. 11 | Temple High | away |
| Jan. 15 | Brown Prep | home |
| Jan. 18 | Morrisville | home |
| Jan. 21 | Upper Darby | away |
| Jan. 24 | Pennsbury | away |
| Jan. 28 | Palmyra | away |
| Feb. 1 | Upper Merion | away |
| Feb. 4 | Bensalem | home |
| Feb. 8 | open | away |
| Feb. 11 | Trenton Catholic | away |
| Feb. 15 | Upper Merion | away |
| Feb. 18 | Morrisville | away |

Russo Released From Duties As Co. Detective

in public schools upon the topic of self protection in war time.

Mr. Russo has been recognized outside of Bucks county for his ability in solving crimes and bringing to justice those guilty. "If I have been successful in my work it has been due to the splendid cooperation which I have received from State Police, the police of neighboring communities and the law enforcement officers of the areas in which I worked," said Mr. Russo today in discussing his severance of his official duties, which became effective today.

He is a past-president of the Police Chiefs' Association of Southeastern Pennsylvania, has served upon the law committee for four years of the Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association, and last year was elected a member of the executive committee.

A total of 15 murder cases were brought into the court during Russo's term in office, and among these were some which attracted nationwide attention. Columns have been written of the Arvine, Blue Spruce, Tallow, Shetland and other murders, all of which Russo was called upon to unravel. His personal scrap book reveals the highest praise for his efforts heaped upon him by the metropolitan press. "I never used a gun or a 'jack in making an arrest," said Russo today. "I never experienced any trouble in making an arrest."

Russo has proven to be a tireless worker and once brought into a case, never let up until it was solved and the case ready for court.

Always interested in civic affairs, Russo never lost an opportunity to demonstrate the patriotism of the members of his race. He headed Independence Day celebrations and flag presentation ceremonies and the raising of moneys for worthwhile projects. He acted as chairman of Americanization Day observances.

Russo spoke with feeling today as he sat in his office and consented to be interviewed. He is deeply appreciative of the splendid co-operation he has always received from state and local police authorities.

"I like this work, but my health has been a great handicap during the past year or two," he said.

"You don't need to interview me," said Russo to a Courier reporter.

"You are very familiar with my work as a law enforcement officer and as a citizen. You have 'covered' many of the police cases which I investigated."

commercialize on it. They prefer to keep it as a Christmas celebration and not a business come-on.

This year the twin granddaughters of Mayor Robert Pfeifle have been selected to flip the switch in Zinzenhof Square—where Bethlehem's first house was built—that will turn on the city's Christmas lights next Thursday.

The girls, both nurses at St. Luke's Hospital, were given the honor partly as the city's thank you to the mayor, who is always active in the Christmas celebration, and partly as a tribute to the nursing profession, which is celebrating its diamond jubilee.

Cadillac
PRESENTS ITS CREATIVE MASTERPIECE...

The world's newest engine—for the world's finest car!

No Cadillac announcement has ever been more significant than the one which appears on this page. For, this year, Cadillac presents its creative masterpiece—a wholly new V-type eight-cylinder engine—which is, beyond all doubt, the highest development yet attained in automotive power plants. ★ This great power plant has been twelve years in the building—for basic development work started in 1936. It has many unusual qualities which set it apart from all other creations of its kind. It is far more alert, powerful and responsive to the throttle—yet it affords an increase in gasoline economy of approximately twenty per cent. And the manner of its performance actually challenges the imagination. It is liquid smooth; it is quick and eager beyond all experience; yet the power application is so effortless that the driver is scarcely aware of the engine's existence. The car seems almost to move by automatic propulsion. ★ Even experienced Cadillac owners must put aside all previous conceptions of performance when they drive the 1949 Cadillac. It is a revelation—from silken start to silken stop. ★ There are, of course, many other advancements in addition to the history-making engine. There is new beauty in the front ensemble; there is a newly-designed, more attractive instrument panel, with all driving controls at your finger tips; and throughout the chassis and body will be found those characteristic refinements which result from Cadillac's unceasing search for perfection. ★ But the big Cadillac story, for 1949, is performance. It is not only the world's new standard—it is beyond the world's current conception.

THE NEW 1949 CADILLAC IS NOW ON DISPLAY
